DISAPPOINTMENT WESTERLY

Failure to Empanel Grand Jury Postpones Hearing in Sudden Death Cases—Some Action Expected Today—Goods of New York Man Attached for Debt—Farewell Purse for Rev. I. F. Lusk—Geo. E. Main Arrested at Request of Chief Murphy, of Norwich.

All Westerly, Stonington and Hopkinton towns, wherein the recent sudden deaths occurred, some under suspicious circumstances, were disappointed Monday when the grand jury could not be empaneled to consider the evidence to be introduced in the prosecution of the indictment of probable guilty parties, and that grand jury action was deferred for at least one day. Of the twenty-three summoned for grand jury duty, it was ascertained that eleven were disqualified by reason of age or property qualifications required by the laws of Rhode Island.

Immediately after the convening of the superior court for Washington county at Kingston Monday morning the work of selecting the grand jury began. The result was a failure to secure the required number of jurors by reason of disqualifications. Summons were immediately issued for additional jurors to report at the superior court Tuesday morning. Four were allotted to Westerly and Monday afternoon to Stonington. Herbert E. Clarke summoned the following to serve as grand jurors: Ernest Coon, George E. Barber, Joseph Rechlin and William H. Barnes.

A large number of witnesses was in court Monday from Westerly to testify before the grand jury in connection with the alleged "poison whiskey" cases, which included physicians, ministers, policemen and an ex-policeman, as well as relatives of some who have died suddenly during the past two weeks.

The grand jurors qualified Monday at George T. Brown of South Kingston, Elmer E. Kenyon, Nathaniel S. Saunders of Hopkinton, Henry L. Hittch of Charlestown, Rowland E. Palmer of Exeter, Walter R. Greene, John C. Egan, John Mello of North Kingston, Dennis Gidea, Walter L. Fraser, Dwight M. Cornell of Westerly, and Jeremiah Quinlan of Narragansett. Among the witnesses summoned to testify before the grand jury are Dr. Frank L. Payne, John L. May and C. Grant Savage, Revs. J. L. Peacock, Clayton A. Burdick and ex-Policeman William Holland, John Reardon, Ira B. Crandall, Isaac C. Barber, William H. Greene, John Connell, Andrew Jordan, Frederick Condon, John Michaels, Alvarado Gardiner, Henry H. Collins, J. D. O'Connell, Robert N. Brigham, H. Nye, Clifford E. Perrin and Bernard Gardner.

Judge Lee is presiding at the April term of court and it has been arranged that a special session be held at Westerly May 2 for the trial of Westerly cases. The suits of Salvatore Salameno, Giorio Salio and Joshua Robar against Frank W. Carver, owner of the collision of teams driven by Mr. Coy and Mr. Robar, will be tried at that time, as will also the liquor case against John Doherty.

Upon the suggestion of the district attorney against Arthur Kelley, known in Westerly as "Deaf and Dumb Dutton," was continued upon payment of costs.

Household effects to the value of about five thousand dollars, two carloads, owned by A. A. Kingland of New York, and removed from the family summer home, the Bellamy cottage, at Weekapaug, are held by attachment of Westerly creditors at the railway station. Perhaps assessed of knowledge that civil process could not be served on Sunday and the death of Deputy Sheriff Coon might delay service Monday morning, the goods were carted to Westerly late Sunday afternoon and placed in the station to be removed to the city on Monday morning.

The Kingsland family owe considerable money to Westerly people, said to be $5,000. Mr. Kingland, who is the son of a former mayor of New York, went into bankruptcy about two years ago. Some of the creditors received a dividend of five per cent. last month.

Learning that what he believed to be a successful attempt to attempt the Kingsland effects out of the state, one of the creditors to the amount of $275 closed his case with Judge John W. Sweeney, who had received a previous call for $175. The result was the issuance of a writ of attachment. Deputy Sheriff George H. Barber was summoned from Hope Valley to serve the writ. Several other claims against the goods have been filed and it will probably be some time before the goods reach New York, if they ever do, unless ample bond is filed to satisfy the demands of the creditors.

Rev. I. F. Lusk, for the past three years pastor of Grace Methodist church, moved with his family Monday to Milton, Del., where he will succeed Rev. Mr. McGilton, who comes to Westerly. Rev. Mr. Lusk preached his farewell sermon to a large congregation Sunday evening, his topic being: "Be Good Cheer and Good Comfort."

At the close of the service John Parker, in behalf of the congregation, presented Mr. Lusk a substantial purse of money in appreciation of his acceptable service during his pastorate in Westerly.

Some time ago Chief Murphy of Norwich arrested George E. Main for theft and that Main had been seen in Westerly. Chief Murphy got busy with other duties and the case was dropped. The man he wanted was employed by a lumbering firm in Hope Valley and suggested that the Norwich chief take the matter up with Deputy Sheriff George H. Barber.

Saturday the sheriff arrested Main in a lumbering camp where he was employed as a teamster and turned him over to Policeman Henderson of the Norwich force, after taking the prisoner to the limit of his jurisdiction. Main was working in Hope Valley under the name of Joseph Saunders and was wanted in Norwich for the theft of guns in that city.

Miss Ellen F. Pendleton of Westerly, dean of Wellesley college, has secured a novel privilege for one of the pupils that probably will not be accepted. Miss Bertha L. Robinson of Cambridge, a junior at the college, has obtained the unprecedented privilege of leave of absence to be married. Miss Robinson has promised her fiance to wed in May in spite of the fact that she had more than a year to complete her course at Wellesley and the probability that the college authorities would require her to withdraw as a student if she should become a matron.

Dean Pendleton became interested and held the matter before the faculty with the result that the fair junior was given a leave of absence from May 10 for the balance of the college year, with the privilege of returning in September and completing her course. This action made Miss Robinson so completely at ease in her situation, and she was greatly embarrassed and therefore she will not avail herself of the leave of absence and return to college after her marriage.

Jacob Herbst suffered a serious accident Monday afternoon that nearly resulted in the loss of his right hand. Mr. Herbst was employed by Michael Rose and assisted him by passing cord wood to be cut into stove size by Mr. Rose's portable woodcutting machine. Wood was being sawed in a barn at his residence, No. 3 Perkins avenue, when the accident occurred. Mr. Herbst had stepped on to a pile of cord wood from the opposite side of the machine, but insisted that there was no danger, he would be careful and not get caught by the large circular saw. Shortly afterwards his right hand came in contact with the blade and was nearly severed just below the wrist.

Dr. M. H. Scanlon was summoned and decided that amputation was not necessary and the injured man was taken to the Westerly sanitarium, the first local emergency case to be taken to that institution. Drs. Scanlon, May, Champlin and Smith decided not to amputate the hand, but the tendons, set the fingers, connected the tendons, set the bones and have hopes of saving the hand to Mr. Herbst should the difficult surgical operation result as expected.

The commissioners appointed several years ago by the superior court for Washington county to determine the land damages by reason of the extension of the Sea View trolley road from Narragansett Pier to Wakefield has made report to Court Clerk Caswell. The committee reports damage for but one party, Anna Eliza Robinson, from whom two acres and a half of land was taken, and damage for the same is fixed at $375.

Perry W. Gardner, attorney for Mrs. Robinson, will claim an appeal from the commissioners' finding and will claim a trial by jury. The commissioners are Thomas P. Peirce of Wickford, George C. Cross of Charlestown and Phineas O. Littlefield of Wakefield.

The house in West Broad street occupied by the Larrow-Hood families has been the site of two deaths, an attempt at murder and suicide, and was accidentally set on fire, all within two weeks. Monday a daughter of the Larrows, sister of Mrs. Hood, and wife of Coulin, who attempted to shoot Deputy Sheriff Casey and himself, gave birth to a child. As a sort of introductory week before the Larrow and Hood deaths, a bullet was fired through the window of the shoemaker shop in the same building by some person who up to the present time is unknown.

Local Laconics.
The resignation of Allen Thompson from the Industrial Trust company to engage in the boat building business has resulted in promotions of other clerks and the appointment of Harold Livingston to the vacancy.
A well known physician stated Monday that in the majority of cases in Westerly where nephritis and heart trouble were given as the cause of death that alcoholism should be included as at least a contributory cause. James F. Blair and family moved Monday from Pawcatuck to Waterbury, where two sons are employed and a married daughter resides. Mr. Blair was formerly engineer for the Westerly Silk company before the concern moved to Norwich.

Eddie O'Donnell of Westerly, who covered first base for the White Rock baseball team last season, is being tried out for a place on the Haverhill team of the New England league. He played center field and Saturday's game and made a double, a single, and had one putout and one assist to his credit.

MYSTIC

Surprise Visit for Engineer Spink—Local Grangers to Entertain County Grange—Old Mystic Postmaster Resigns.

Boone Spink, chief engineer on the steamer between New Bedford and New York, paid a visit to his home on the Nook road Sunday afternoon and was surprised to find that about fifteen friends had made their way to his home before he arrived. The afternoon and evening were pleasantly spent. There was music and at 8 o'clock supper was served.
